Dear Parents, Carers and Families,

I am writing to update you in relation to the various announcements that have been made by the government in the last few weeks about schools reopening.

Whilst the government has indicated that it would like secondary schools to begin a targeted reopening to students in Year 10 and Year 12 from June 15th, there is different guidance pertaining to special schools that makes it clear that we should not be aiming to bring back any students because of their year group. School will not be reopening on 15th June for children in these year groups.

We will be working hard to try to identify safe ways in which we can increase the number of our most vulnerable children in school and will be carrying out lengthy risk assessment work in the next couple of weeks relating to this. Whilst this could mean that there are more students in school from 22nd June, it is unlikely that there will be any return to school this side of the summer holidays for the majority of students.

Any students returning will, where at all possible, need to learn, understand, and apply the safety procedures that we are putting in place to manage the risks involved.

We will be working with students' carers and families to support their transition through the end of this academic year and what this looks like will depend on the age and stage of individual students.

I hope this clarifies our current position and will continue to keep you updated.

Kind regards

Peter Hawksworth
